Note: Infant, neonatal and perinatal mortality rates for local areas can fluctuate quite substantially between years due to the small number of deaths recorded at these ages.

Rates are not calculated where there are fewer than 3 deaths in a cell, denoted by (u). It is ONS practice not to calculate rates where there are fewer than 3 deaths in a cell, as rates based on such low numbers are susceptible to inaccurate interpretation.

Rates in tables calculated from fewer than 20 deaths are denoted by (u) as a warning to the user that their reliability as a measure may be affected by the small number of events.

u low reliability

1 The age-standardised mortality rates for 2013 are standardised to the 2013 European Standard Population, expressed per 100,000 population. Age-standardised rates are used to allow comparison between populations which may contain different proportions of people of different ages. Age-standardised mortality rates (ASMRs) for Scotland and Northern Ireland will differ from those published by national Records of Scotland and Northern Ireland Statistics and Research Agency as their published ASMRs are based on only population data. ASMRs published here use live births instead of the population under 1.

2 The deaths of those whose usual residence is outside England and Wales are included in total figures for England and Wales, but excluded from any sub-division of England and Wales.

3 The Isles of Scilly were recoded on 1 April 2009. They are separately administered by an Isles of Scilly council and do not form part of Cornwall UA but, for the purposes of the representation of statistical data, they have been combined with Cornwall UA.

4 The deaths of those whose usual residence is outside Scotland are included in total figures for Scotland, and are also included any sub-division of Scotland based on where the death occurred.

5 The deaths of those whose usual residence is outside Northern Ireland are included in total figures for Northern Ireland, and are also included any sub-division of Northern Ireland based on where the death occurred.
